“During Breast Cancer Awareness Month in October, we remember those we have lost to breast cancer and pay tribute to the survivors who continue the fight against this horrible disease. As State Senator, I am proud to work with Rochester Regional Health. Cayuga, Cortland and Tompkins Counties Cancer Services Program and Cancer Services Program of the Finger Lakes to bring screenings to underserved communities and give women the opportunity to take control of their health. I encourage all women to speak with their doctors and take advantage of opportunities to get screened. We must continue to work together to raise awareness on women's issues year round and educate our community," Senator Helming said.

Please note, insurance will be accepted for these screenings and those without insurance will receive free screenings. However, pre-registration is required. Please call 585-922-PINK(7465) to schedule an appointment or for more information, please visit www.rochesterregional.org/pink

"All women 50 and older should get screened for breast cancer," said Michele Tufano, program manager of the Cancer Services Program. "Regular mammograms are the best way to find breast cancer early, when it may be easier to treat."

Senator Helming was recently honored by the Breast Cancer Coalition of Rochester (BCCR) with their Advocate Spirit Award in recognition of her aggressive efforts to support those suffering with breast cancer and their families. She has worked with the Breast Cancer Coalition of Rochester to provide critical state funding for screening, prevention efforts, and support for those suffering and their caregivers.
