Sen. Ortt Response to 2020 State of the State

Robert G. Ortt

January 8, 2020

“After one year of Democrat control, New York is worse off than it was twelve months ago from both a safety and financial standpoint. Today’s State of the State has done nothing to assure me of any change for the better. Instead of addressing our state's $6 billion budget deficit or the daily release of dangerous criminals back into our communities, Gov. Cuomo is focusing his attacks on gun owners and Styrofoam food containers. Democrats care more about illegal cigarettes than they do illegal immigrants. We need a serious plan to address the serious dangers New York continues to put on community safety and taxpayers' wallets."
