At a special ceremony today, state Sen. Joseph Griffo, R-I-C-Rome, recognized Eve Van de Wal as a 2021 New York State Woman of Distinction.

The award honors women throughout the state who have made outstanding contributions to their communities. Each senator selects an honoree.

“It is an honor to recognize Eve as a New York State Woman of Distinction,” Sen. Griffo said.

“From her time as a nurse in the Critical Care Unit of Faxon Hospital to her current role as regional president of the Utica/North Country region for Excellus BlueCrossBlueShield, Eve has made it a priority to give back and help others. She is a positive force in the community and region and is committed to improving the lives of residents and families throughout Upstate New York."

"It is an honor to be included among this amazing group of women and I am humbled to receive this recognition from Sen. Griffo," Van de Wal said. "As a lifelong resident of the Mohawk Valley, I take great pride in working to improve the health and well-being of our members and our community. It is my privilege to be able to support and contribute to the efforts of the many wonderful community based organizations we have throughout our area focused on creating positive changes that improve the quality of life for the people of our region."
