State Senator Elijah Reichlin-Melnick (D-Rockland/Westchester) said, "I proudly advocated on behalf of local arts organizations in this year's state budget, and am delighted that hundreds of thousands of dollars in state funds are coming to Rockland and Westchester to support the robust arts and cultural programs in our communities. New York without our vibrant arts and cultural organizations wouldn't be the state we know and love, which is why I'll always fight for the arts."

These grants were announced as part of the third round of NYSCA grants for 2021, which awarded a total of $45 million in grant awards to more than 1,000 organizations across New York. NYSCA's fourth and final round of funding, a $20 million Capital Projects opportunity, is currently accepting applications. The application portal will close on January 14, 2022. More information is available at arts.ny.gov.

The Ossining-based Bethany Arts Community organization received three separate grants totaling $84,500 for rehearsal and studio space for performing arts, a NYSCA recovery funds grant, and a NYSCA support for organizations grant.

Abigail Lewis, Executive Director of Bethany Arts Community, said "We are deeply honored to receive these awards and to be among such a vibrant community of peers. Arts and the artistic process is more important than ever to bring us together and to feed our communities' renewal. These funds ensure we can provide affordable access while providing artists with the support they need. Thank you Governor Hochul and the State Legislature for your commitment to the arts, especially during these challenging times."

The Nyack-based Children's Shakespeare Theatre received a NYSCA support for organizations grant for $25,000.

Brady Amoonclark, Artistic Director for Children's Shakespeare Theatre, said "Children's Shakespeare Theatre is thrilled to accept our first public grant in our twenty-two years of offering quality educational theatre, building a community that enriches the lives of our young actors and their families. We are so thankful to Governor Kathy Hochul and State Senator Elijah Reichlin-Melnick for their work in support of this grant."
