On Friday, May 5, State Senator Joseph P. Addabbo, Jr. hosted his first Senior Job Fair since 2020 in conjunction with Queens Community House. Over 120 residents aged 55 and older visited the Kew Gardens Community Center to speak with the companies on hand about potential open positions.

"I was thrilled to meet with all of these constituents who were looking for work and took the time to come to the job fair. It was a wonderful turnout," Addabbo said. "I want to thank our partners at Queens Community House for allowing us to use their space, and I wish all jobseekers the best of luck in securing a new job."
