The New York Senate and Assembly have taken a historic step towards the homologation of the Dominican driver's license by approving bill S4329A. This legislative achievement is the result of joint efforts between the Dominican Senate and the New York Senate, sowing a seed of collaboration that has led the New York State to open up to all countries in the world regarding driver's license homologation.

This bill, approved by the New York Senate and Assembly, represents a significant milestone for the Dominican community settled in the state and marks a before and after in their lives. It also sets a prominent precedent nationally, as New York becomes the first state in the United States to complete a project of this magnitude.

Senator Alexis Victoria Yeb, representative of the María Trinidad Sánchez province, and Senator Luis Sepúlveda, from the 32nd district of the Bronx, express their profound gratitude to Senators Kennedy and Skoufis of New York, as well as to the impressive leadership of New York Assembly Deputy Speaker Phil Ramos and Assemblymember Manny De Los Santos for their tireless efforts in making this unprecedented legislation possible.

"We want to thank our fellow legislators for their support and approval of this project," expressed Senator Alexis Victoria Yeb. "This legislative achievement marks a significant milestone for the Dominican community in New York".

Senator Luis Sepúlveda added, "This legislation opens the doors to all countries in the world regarding driver's license homologation. We are proud that New York is pioneering this issue at the state level in the United States."

With the approval of this law, Dominicans settled in New York will be able to easily and quickly access the benefits of their driver's licenses, always faithfully complying with the regulations and standards of the State of NY and prioritizing road safety.

This legislative achievement is a reason to celebrate and express gratitude to all those who have made this progress possible. The offices of Senator Sepúlveda and Alexis Victoria Yeb are proud to represent the community and to have contributed to this historic achievement. Work continues with determination to achieve more progress and opportunities for everyone.
