What are you most thankful for?

I am thankful to everybody who made it possible for us to be able to recover from this terrible storm and cheer each other up so that we can all be mirthful. I mostly thank my family because they were the ones who made me feel safe in the pitch-black when the power was out during Hurricane Sandy. I thank my grandparents too for letting my family stay at their house, right before the sizzard hit, when my house was freezing cold and was endured in complete darkness from the power outage. I also want to thank my neighbors for making me feel not alone (besides my family) and in a team together. When I am sad they mourn with me and feel sad with me too; I think that is what it takes to be a true friend. LIPA workers and those generous volunteers for shelters (and other places) should also be thanked. LIPA workers worked very hard to bring others electricity although the nor'easter was in motion. Also, those people of all ages who decided to help others by volunteering at shelters all have a very big heart for helping others at hard times. All these people that I just mentioned are only few of the many people that helped us all recover from this storm. I am really thankful about all of the things that I took for granted and learned during Sandy (the hurricane) that I should be more thankful about everything.
