SATURDAY, MAY 14th, 2011, 10am-2pm

Freshkills Park Staten Island Office
2240 Richmond Avenue, at Draper Place

The New York City Department of Parks & Recreation is in the process of designing a 3.3-mile off-road bicycle and pedestrian path running north-south along the eastern edge of the future Freshkills Park site.

The path will begin at the intersection of Arlene Street and Signs Road and continue down the length of Richmond Avenue to its intersection with Arthur Kill Road, providing connection to existing and future on- and off-street bike facilities along the way.

Please stop by to learn more about the project.

The open house format of this event allows for conversation with planners and designers responsible for the greenway's design and construction.
