Lower Taxes + Balanced Budgets = More Jobs

LOWER TAXES +
BALANCED BUDGETS = MORE JOBS

Before Andrew Cuomo became our Governor and Lee Zeldin became our Senator, Albany raised taxes by $14 billion and increased state spending by $14 billion in 2009 and 2010.

Partnering with Governor Cuomo, Senator Zeldin helped pass two on-time budgets that closed a $13 billion budget deficit by cutting spending, instead of creating new taxes.

By controlling wasteful spending, Senator Zeldin was able to cut state income taxes on middle-income families to the lowest level in 50 years.

Senator Zeldin also capped local property taxes for overburdened homeowners.

It's a simple formula:

By reducing state spending and cutting taxes, Senator Lee Zeldin is working to turn around Long Island's economy and create jobs.
