Q:
Who is eligible for financial aid?

A:
Most undergraduates receive financial assistance. The Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) is the most common application used to determine eligibility. Financial aid can include grants, loans, scholarships, work-study and more. For more information about FAFSA, visit www.fafsa.ed.gov.

For more information visit http://www.suny.edu/Student/paying_college.cfm.

Students and parents are also encouraged to research the many scholarship opportunities that exist. Scholarship awards not only cover college expenses but give the student extra freedom to pursue extra-curricular activities, and graduate without a great deal of loans. As a personal rule, scholarships are always preferable to loans.

New York State Higher Education Services Corp. (HESC) can help you find more information about financial aid, as well as state programs that help low-income students afford college.

Visit HESC online at www.hesc.com.

New York is home to one of the best systems of public higher education in the country – the State University of New York (SUNY). With 64 campuses and hundreds of academic programs, you are sure to find one that helps you meet your goals. And the best part is, it will cost you a whole lot less for the same great education as a private school!

Leaders of nearly every field of work have attended SUNY: Eileen Collins (Corning), the first woman to command a space shuttle, actor Billy Crystal (Nassau), fashion designer Calvin Klein (FIT), journalist Brian Lehrer (Albany), opera singer Renee Fleming (Potsdam), and James Follo (CFO of the New York Times Company), to name a few.

So whether you are preparing to enroll as a full-time students or just looking to take a course or two, choose SUNY. Before choosing a campus, students and parents should consider the following items: curriculum, location, cost, financial aid opportunities, student body size, sports and activities, academic students, and should never make a decision before visiting the campus.

To help in your educational search I have compiled a list with contact information of every school in the SUNY system, including phone numbers and websites. I have also included a senior year calendar to help students going to college stay on top of the admissions process, and information about financial aid.

So open it up, tape it above your computer, and have fun exploring your options.

If there is anything else I can help with, please call my District Office.

Sincerely,

Sincerely,

Senator José M. Serrano

According to SUNY, more than 6,688 programs of study are offered on 64 campuses – “making it the largest and most diverse comprehensive institution of higher education in the country - and most likely the world.”

Campuses are divided into four categories: University Centers and Doctoral Degree Granting Institutions, University Colleges, Technology Colleges and Community Colleges. Every campus provides students with a top-notch education, but may differ in mission.

Potential students should explore what every campus has to offer academically and socially.
