

In every county and every legislative district across the state, Catholic Charities brings hope to New York's most vulnerable citizens. This has been true ever since the first Catholic Charities programs were launched 100 years ago.

Today, Catholic Charities agencies serve more than 1 million unduplicated clients annually, with programs in all 62 counties of the state, providing $1.3 billion in services. Our mission, rooted in the Gospel, is to go wherever we are needed, provide whatever is needed, and serve whomever is in need.

Our programs extend to men, women, and children of every faith (or no faith at all). We exist not because those we serve are Catholic, but because we are Catholic.

For the past 100 years, Catholic Charities and its network of community-based agencies have been there to meet the needs of New Yorkers — through two world wars, the Great Depression, the turbulent 1960s, the crack and AIDS crises of the 1980s, terrorist attacks, natural disasters, the housing and financial market collapse of the last decade, and the recent influx of refugees from war-torn nations. And we will continue to be there for another century and beyond.
