

Earth day Every day

By Scarlett Allison

Contribute to the Earth whenever you can,
It's our one and only home.
You don't need to have a big plan
Just try and help before we cut too close to the bone.

You don't need to have a big mission to set every animal free,
It could just be as simple as planting a little tree.
The Earth is the reason we're all alive, you know,
The only thing that's letting us thrive.

If we cut down every tree,
And pollute every river,
We'll probably have no place to flee,
Just here, to sit in fear and hunger, and shiver

Even thinking about a world like that is scary
And has already made so many people wary.
Although the signs of getting closer are easy to dismiss
You can still help prevent this.
