In New York State, overdose deaths involving opioids increased nearly 35 percent between 2015 and 2016. Fentanyl-related deaths increased at a much higher rate—nearly 160 percent statewide. And, as you may have seen in the media recently, officials are worried that carfentanil, a synthetic opioid – which is 5,000 times more powerful than heroin and 100 times stronger than fentanyl – may be making its way into New York. Please do not miss this free educational opportunity to learn about fentanyl and carfentanil.

Presentation topics include, but are not limited to:

- Pharmacology and potency of fentanyl and carfentanil;
- Police Officer/ First Responder exposure: How to prevent accidental exposure and how to spot signs and symptoms of exposure;
- Alarming statistics and general information; and
- Current drug trends and media coverage regarding synthetic opioids and counterfeit pills.
