RE: Middle Class Tax Cut

Dear Leader Stewart-Cousins:

With negotiations on a new State Budget for Fiscal Year 2021-22 now underway, we are writing to encourage you and your Conference Members to stand together with our Senate Republican Conference in strong opposition to Governor Cuomo's misguided proposal to delay the middle class tax cuts that are due to take place this year.

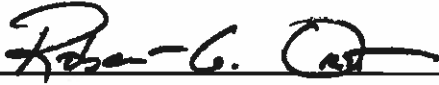

As you know, once fully implemented, this landmark, $4.2 billion tax cut initiative will reduce middle class personal income tax rates by 20 percent, helping 6 million hardworking, middle class New Yorkers and tens of thousands of small businesses.

It is vitally important to remember that these historic tax cuts, which were enacted with strong bi-partisan support, have already been promised to New Yorkers. Even during the best of times, renegeing on this promise would represent a major step in the wrong direction for our overtaxed state. But taking away this promised relief now – at a time when many New Yorkers and small businesses are struggling to cope with the economic impact of the COVID-19 pandemic – would be particularly shortsighted, counterproductive and wrong.

As our Senators and fiscal staff continue to review the specific details of the new Executive Budget, this particular proposal has already emerged as being among the most problematic measures for countless residents of our state. In light of the broad, bi-partisan support that these tax cuts have previously enjoyed, we are now urging the Senate Democrat Conference to stand with us in pledging opposition to any final budget proposal that fails to deliver this middle class tax cut on-time and as-promised.

We appreciate your consideration of this request.

Sincerely,

Senator Robert G. Ort
