Recycling is very important for the environment. I like to recycle water bottles. When you are done with a plastic water bottle, you can wash them and use them again. After a few times, you can collect them in a garbage bag and can. Then you can go to the grocery store and return the bottles for money!!

You can also reuse things like water bottles, plastic cups, plastic bowls and plastic plates. Another thing that you can reuse are notebooks, paper and books to read. This will help save the trees because you will not need to waste paper.

Instead of driving in a car and wasting gas, you can reduce the amount of gas used by using a skateboard, and electric scooter or roller skates to get around town.

Every year, my family goes to the beach for a beach clean up day. We use the tong picker-uppers to collect all of the trash at the beach. There are a lot of birds and sea animals that live by the beach and in the water. It is important that we clean up the beach so that they have a safe environment to live in! The more we clean up, the less animals like seals and fish will get hurt.

One more thing, we should use metal straws instead of plastic straws! They are much better for the environment. :)
