

Earth day poem

Ethan Soto PS/IS 48 Grade 6

Earth is our home.

It is where we were grown

Even though we all know the Earth has been through a lot

Like garbage and climate change making Earth feel hot.

We never show how much we know Earth is in danger

With pollution and littering from even a random stranger.

Now take a look

And you'll be shook

How we treat our home

The only place we've known.

You can see, how you and me, can make an end

To all of this, can you comprehend?

We can learn, we can show

because for all we know..

Earth is our last and only home.
