Introduction

Hey kid have you ever considered recycling if you have not here are three good reasons why recycling is a very good idea. One reason is how recycling can save the earth, another reason is is how we can reuse trash, the final reason is you can save animals

How recycling can save the world

When we recycle the trash can be made into new products. Like roads and houses. We can recycle a lot of materials like plastic iron coal and many more materials. It is helping save the world

When we recycle it doesn't put energy to waste it saves energies like water there can be lower pollution more natural resources, it can save a lot of energy.

How we can recycle, is you have to recycle plastic bags separately it can hurt the wild life animals and its environment. Another thing not to do is shred paper it is difficult to recycle it ended up in landfills and made those piles even bigger. You can also do the 3 R's you can reduce the amount of trash, or reuse it and make things that can be useful to you or make some decorative things out of the trash, or just recycle it.

How we can reuse trash

To reuse trash you just need to be creative so you can make different things out of the trash some can be useful and make your life easier like reusable bags so everytime you go to the grocery store you don't have to get a plastic bag to throw out in one minute and make the environment worse.

You can organize your stuff by putting it in different boxes like a toy box a pencil box made. And if you are throwing out cardboard boxes you can use that. You don't have to throw away jars you can just put some stuff in it to organize.

It can be a lot of fun because you can make stuff with your parents and it can be super fun like when you're throwing away cardboards you can make a house or a rocket ship out of it and have a lot of fun with your father your mother.

Support 3

We know that recycling can save the world, but what about the animals. 8,000,00 tons of plastic are thrown in the ocean every year. It kills so many sea animals some animals get stuck some animals eat the plastic and die. So we need to HELP!

If we recycle we can save the habitats of many animals. We can go in the ocean and pick up all the trash but that can take a long time so we need a LOT of people maybe more than a billion people. Some people care a lot and some people just don't care. The people who care are diving into oceans and saving a lot of animals and you should do that to.

Conclusion

Hey kid have you ever considered recycling if you have not here are three good reasons why recycling is a very good idea. One reason is how recycling can save the earth, another reason is is how we can reuse trash, the final reason is you can save animals
