

Pollution

By Indy

Do you ever think about the environment? Well, I do. It's getting pretty polluted. The reason is because of us. We cause almost 85% of the worlds pollution. I think we need to change that.

We can pick up trash and litter from the ground. By doing this we can help the environment. It would not only help the animals, but us as well. I believe that we can change that, since most of our trash goes to the ocean, we could send divers to get it. In this way it could help us and the creatures of the ocean.

The map shows where ocean pollution is and the other picture shows what the ocean should be like.

Since we can't grab air pollution, we can use our bikes more often. If we do this birds will flourish. We will also see less sickness and have more people born each year. Not that that is a good thing. We can save
