

buying new clothes you can do different things with them. Also, in the website mint.intuit.com states that "Once you finish a book, consider selling or trading on Amazon, AbeBooks, Dedutter or Letgo and each of these apps allows you to take a picture and list your used items at a discounted price." This reveals that you can make money just from taking a picture and list the items you used at a price. In conclusion, there are different ways to save the earth.

You can recycle to save the earth by recycling paper and cans. As proof, in the website cnet.com states that "You can do this by rinsing the can when you're finished with it, if foods or liquids are left in the cans, it can explode an entire batch of recyclables." This proves that if you do not rinse a finished can it makes a explosion even with poison or pollution. In addition, in the website www.conserve-energy-future.com says that "Paper is collected from the bin and deposited in the large recycling container along with the paper from the other recycling bins, once accepted at the recycling facility, the papers are further sorted based on quantity and paper value by assessing the materials that were used to make the paper, it turns the paper materials into a slurry substance, a process termed as pulping this gets done by adding water and chemicals such as caustic soda and hydrogen peroxide, the end of
