Hello! This is Zaden Stewart, I'm in grade five, and I am 11 Years old. I have autism. Elizabeth, my best friend and I would always reuse trash like Pringles cans, and make something new out of it last Year! It was super fun! We would take Pringles cans, and make the weirdest things out of them. Such as chip dispensers and much more!

Ever since Elizabeth and I first met, we were never in the same class, until third grade, but it stopped in fifth grade. In 3rd and 4th Grade, we would make things out of trash too. You know, "one man's trash is another man's treasure!" I would collect tons of trash, and make it into separate little things and collect them if I could! You can do this by saving bottles, Pringles cans, McDonalds cups, e.t.c. and cut it in the shape you want, or just edit it however you make it and create the trash into what you need, and this is optional, but you can paint it to add color! You can get ideas from YouTube, Google, Safari, and much more! I have some creative ideas too! Water bottles, dispensers and gumball machines are my ideas, all made out of trash.

You know, making stuff out of trash is fun especially when you get a friend to do it as well. I wish Elizabeth was still in my class! It's fun to make crafts with her!

Now, trash is so much more than garbage! Do you have bottles piled up outside? Use them to make cool crafts! Get creative so you can make cool crafts out of what used to be trash!
