

The earth is like an eye. But will last longer. Say an eye closes, it's like the world ending. You can tell the Earth can be fragile. It is already dying because of some makeup. These makeups are animal tested and kill some animals. It's sad as many people also throw trash on the ground as the ground "eats" the garbage. Littering is like junk food to the body. It can slowly kill you. As you might be able to tell I have a point. See My drawing is a good way to recycle. The person I got the idea from is recycling a can and helping the earth.

In summary, these are some things you should think about. You really should though.
