Ways To Take Care of the Earth

There are many ways to protect and care for the earth.

Some ways that you can take care of the earth and protect it is to recycle, reuse, and reduce.

Reuse means to use something again. People can reuse a pair of shoes and cloth that some one older in your family used but does not fit them anymore. You can also reuse things that people throw away or sell and if you do not like how it looks then you can paint it or ask someone to help you.

Reduce is to not waste something or use it a lot. Some ways you can reduce are to turn of the light in a room when you are not it or no one is in there you can also not waste to much water by taking a quick shower. Another way you can reduce is to not throw away bags and reuse them so you don't have to get more bags.

Recycling is the process of converting waste materials into new materials and objects. You can make something that can't be use into something that can be use for example you drink a small juice box cut is and make it into a small place to put pens and pencils.

This are some ways you and other people can do to recycle, reuse, and reduce to protect, care, and save the earth.
