

Jonathan Zephyr

Earth is What I Call Home

We all live on one planet, Earth. This planet provides many things for us, and we make use of it, but we don't take care of the planet we live on. There are many people everyday littering, factories dumping oil in our waters, and air. We have to protect the world we live on and keep our planet safe.

You have probably seen trash on the ground if you ever go around anywhere, you've maybe seen water bottles, containers of food, and plastic cups on the ground to. This is us throwing our trash on the planet we live on, that isn't a good thing. Have you every went to the beach and seen trash everywhere, even in the waters? Don't you wanna stop this? Well we can stop this by joining organizations who work to clean not only the floors, but the water too. This helps the planet and the animals who live on it.

Have you ever seen people make things out of trees such as paper or houses? If you have did you know this not only doesn't benefit the planet but us to. When we get rid of land to make a house or a complex we cut down the trees and plants that filter our air and make it cleaner. I'm not saying we shouldn't build, I'm saying we should also take care of nature.

I really hope that your thought about the things I stated, on how we should stop littering, and how we should care for our environment. Because at the end of the day this is the planet you and everyone else lives on its up to us to decide if we want to protect it.