Earth Day Every Day

We all know Earth Day is important but I think Earth Day should be more than a day. We should celebrate every day! We could celebrate by not wasting, people should be recycling, and picking up trash on the floor if they see some.

One way to celebrate Earth Day is by not wasting. People could buy the amount they need. People can also stop throwing out food and eat the leftovers. People should also throw stuff in the junkyard that can damage the earth.

Another way to celebrate Earth Day every day is by recycling. People could go to a junkyard and find something to change into something new. Also, people can recycle cans and bottles. People can recycle paper by using the front and back sides of the paper.

Lastly, people can pick up trash on the floor if they see some. If people see a full garbage can they can see if something falls out and put it back in. If it keeps on falling out then put it into a different garbage can. People can put some trash into their garbage can if they see some trash on their lawn even if it's not theirs.

In conclusion, Earth Day should be celebrated every day. We could celebrate by not wasting, people should be recycling, and picking up trash on the floor if they see some.
