Ever since I was a little kid I have loved to go to the beach. It reminds me of the times My family and I would go swim and spend time in the summer. As I was growing up, I started to realize that many people don't clean up after themselves after eating. This garbage ended up in the water making the beach dirty which affects the earth in a negative way. In this essay I will be writing about pollution in the water

Ocean pollution negatively affects the earth in several ways. In the ocean there is more than 80% plastic waste in the oceans. The dirtiness of the water can affect human problems and all the trash in the ocean can kill-hurt the fish or other fish in the ocean this also affects the sea life because with all the trash in the ocean it can cause "increases corals "and viruses, bacteria and other microorganisms.

There are many ways we can stop this. We can help keep the ocean clean by not littering if we see trash pick it up and throw it away because if not it will probably end up in the ocean, we can also help by keep the ocean clean by not using the bathroom in the ocean, we can also use paper straws and put a lid on a plastic water bottle.

So, what I talked about in the essay is on how to keep the ocean and why it's bad to litter. Also keep in mind it's not only for the sea life, but also for the wilderness for my family and other families we must keep the ocean clean and reduce ocean pollution.
