Ah, Thanksgiving - the time of the year where we are grateful for. This Thanksgiving, I am grateful for many things.

One of them is my family. My parents are always so supportive, and they give up their time and energy for me - preparing for quizzes and tests, cooking up a feast every night, to so much more. I realize I am very, very lucky to have such a great family, because, out there, kids have no one to celebrate the holidays with, and are always lonely, or their parents are bad role models.

I am also very thankful for all the food and water I have. When I come home, I come home to a fridge full of food. There are some people who are homeless, and they have no money to buy food, and they are constantly hungry. Every time I have a meal in front of me, I whisper a thank-you that I have food, and we always give canned food for food drives.

In conclusion, Thanksgiving is a great holiday, and I am thankful for food and water.
