

What Am I Thankful For

There are many things I am very proud of, such as my family and my friends. I am very thankful for my friends and my family. My family are the people who help me live and help me survive. They make me food which helps me survive and they put a roof over my head. My friends are the people who help me when I am feeling down or when I just need some company.

My family are the people that I care about the most. I am thankful for them because they put food on the table and put a roof over my head. They try their best to provide a good life for me and try to help me in any kind of way when I need assistance in anything. They help me with hard tasks. They encourage me to try hard. Everyone in my family wants me to do well in school and in the future. For example, they help me with my homework and my projects. They also encourage me to try hard and to do my best when it comes to schoolwork and studying. My parents believe that I am smart and will be successful in life. This is why I am thankful for my parents and my family.

I am also very thankful for my friends. They are always there for me. They always stand up for me when I am being disrespected. My friends help me when I am sad and when I need someone to comfort me. They also help me when I have questions about anything I don't understand. My friends tell me that I am very kind and outgoing. They will always make a place in my heart. This is why I am thankful for my friends.

In conclusion, you all now know what I am thankful for. I am thankful for my family and my friends. My family are the people that put food on the table and a roof over my head for me to survive. My friends are always there for me and they comfort me when I am sad. These are the things that I am thankful for.
