Thanksgiving Day

As all leaves pass by

I certainly shall not cry that Thanksgiving is here.

As this day comes by all will cheer to celebrate without fear.

We will eat our Thanksgiving feast,

then make cake with yeast.

As children play

I shall say what I am thankful for today.

On a night in mid may my mother will give birth to a child with a loving, warm hearted smile.

She has no fact of who it might be,

but she will celebrate with glee.

This is what I am thankful for this year.

Thank you
