Thanks giving Essay

Being thankful means to be happy and appreciate everything you have. One thing I am thankful for is my family and friends. I am thankful for family and friends because my family and friends make me laugh, keep me company, and support me. Another thing I am thankful for is having a house. I am thankful for having a house because it keeps me warm and protected. Also, it is important to be thankful because it shows appreciation and it shows the person who got you the gift, respect. In conclusion that's what it means to be thankful and why it is important to be thankful. Those are also some things I am thankful for.
