

What I am Thankful for

I am thankful for my family, the president, my friends, the police, and my gymnastics coaches. I am also thankful to give things to other families.

I am thankful for my family because my parents take good care of me, give me a good school, give me food, gets clothes for me, and pays for the things that we need, my brothers and sisters because I am never alone when they are with me (they always give me company).

I am thankful for the president because he keeps our country safe and makes jobs, runs the economy, and does everything good for the American people.

I am thankful for my friends because they are always with me and they are fun to play with and be with.

I am thankful for the police because they protect us and make sure nobody is doing anything bad in our town. They make it a safe place for us to be in.

I am thankful for my gymnastics coaches because they teach me skills and help me learn them if I don't already know them. They do a lot of things to help me with my gymnastics.

The last thing I am thankful for is giving things to other families, they don't have the things that we do, so I am thankful that I have that stuff and that I am lucky.

To conclude, my family, the president, my friends, the police, my gymnastics coaches, and giving things to other families all make me happy.
