

Thankful Essay

By Annalena Dozoretz

As you all know this year was an extraordinary year. You might find yourself being thankful for a lot of things you think you would have never been thankful for like school or maybe even technology. But the most important thing you should be thankful for is family and friends.

I'm thankful for friends and family. For example, I'm thankful for friends and family because if we did not have friends and family who would pay for food to feed you. If you did not have friends and family you would be nowhere. This proves if you did not have friends and family it would get you nowhere. Also, friends are the ones that stick up for you and make you feel better. This makes me realize, friends can be helpful they could save you from embarrassment they could save you from getting bullied friends can do a lot of things for you.

I'm thankful for technology because if we did not have technology we would not be able to learn. For example, if we didn't have technology we would not be able to do school work and we would lose a lot of learning and we would fall behind every other school in our learning. Also, if we did not have technology if someone was hurt we would not be able to call them. This makes me realize that we would have to walk to get help and that would probably take a long time it would have depended where you live.

I know this year was extraordinary and a lot of things you think you would not be thankful for like me technology and friends and family well that's what makes this year extraordinary and that's why I'm thankful for matters.
