I know this might sound really just happy go lucky, and you might not like that, but I am really thankful for friends. They are kind to you and aren't mean to you, they are really good company, and my friends always make me laugh. They are really funny and great people and friends. I'm so glad I met them because they really make my day better, whenever I get bored I talk to them and they make me feel better. Without friends people would be lonely, bored lots, and just overall kind of sad, probably. What I am saying is friends are great and some people need to appreciate them more, friends are people that are kind to you, funny, and would be willing to do a lot of amazing things for you and comfort you when you're down. They keep you company if you feel lonely, and what sucks is that because of this lockdown a lot of people aren't able to see friends. But because of technology people are able to still talk to each other, which is why I am also thankful for technology. Without technology people wouldn't be able to talk to each other at all right now. I hope you enjoyed my thankful essay, if you are reading this, and if you have friends, make sure to say, "Thank you!".
