

Christina Lollo

SJBDHS

10/28/21

I am grateful for both my friends and family. My friends and family never fail to make me feel loved, appreciated, and that I truly do matter. Especially during this unprecedented time, my friends and family members have shown me that I have a strong support system to lean on whenever I feel that I am struggling. Furthermore, they always make me feel happy and that anything is possible if you work hard. This past year and present year has caused numerous people to experience hardships and difficulties in many aspects of their lives, however, with family and friends, I truly believe that we will come through this hard time stronger than we were before.