The past year has been crazy, and life is finally returning to normal. As a result, I have thought about the many gifts in my life. The greatest gift of all, and what I am most thankful for, are my friends and family. My friends and family are always there for me. They never fail to make me laugh or put a smile on my face. My gratitude for my friends and family have only increased over the past year because I know what it is like to not be able to see them everyday. My friends and family are truly the light of my life. I am incredibly thankful for all the people in my life.
