

Jonathan Tinti

SJBDHS

10/28/21

What I am thankful for this year is how blessed and how lucky I am. I live in a place where both of my parents are still with me, and I have a family that loves me. I am able to go outside on my own and not have to worry about anything harmful happening to me. I have friends who really care about me and a girlfriend who I never could have asked for. I am thankful that I have people in my life that love me even when I may not love myself. I am thankful that I am close with my extended family and that both sets of grandparents are still alive. Most of all, I am thankful that I am alive and able to live in a beautiful world.