

Maureen Healy

SJBDHS

28 October 2021

Thankful

The holiday season is a time to reflect on our lives and appreciate everything we have been blessed with. It is important to acknowledge and be grateful for everything that we have. I am so thankful for my amazing and supportive family. My mother and father love and take care of my four siblings and I. They have sacrificed so much to give us a good upbringing. They always support me and help me to be the best version of myself. My older sister is my biggest role model. I try to follow her example of how to be a good person. My two older brothers support and protect me. They set a good example of how I should act. My little brother brings so much joy into my life. He always brightens the room and can make anyone smile. He is the happiest kid and loves everyone. He is always excited to see me and is my biggest supporter. I have a very big family with 51 first cousins. My three best friends are my cousins. We have been best friends our whole lives. We would do anything for each other. We can always be ourselves around each other. I love all of my cousins. They are all different, but we always have so much fun together. I am thankful to have a large family that always supports and cares for me.