

Emma Virgilio

SJBDHS

10/28/21

What are you thankful for this year?

I am very thankful for many things in my life, but this year I am most thankful for the support that I am getting from my parents and teachers. Everyone told me that junior year was one of the hardest years of your high school career and now I can finally understand what they meant. Although school is often very stressful, I am extremely thankful that all of my teachers are understanding and want to help guide my classmates and I through this very challenging year. My parents have also helped me with my high school career in countless ways as well. Both my teachers and parents want to see me succeed and I am so thankful to have them in my life.