

What I'm Thankful For

I am thankful for multiple things, simple, and deeper. I am thankful for my family and friends. I am also thankful for the community, like workers, teachers, and strangers. I am also thankful for the community, like workers, teachers, and strangers. I am thankful for the community because I am just simply around them a lot and they can do great things for you. They can help you in the store, or just talk to you when you walk past them. You would probably take for granted the people you know if you lost them all. I am also very grateful for all the opportunities I have, whether that be really great vacations, or just little things like being able to correct an assignment.

Your life could be different in many ways. If there were no teachers, you wouldn't be smart. You most likely wouldn't be able to go to college and then get a good job. If you didn't have your family, you could be different if they weren't there to support you and raise you. Strangers could make your day if they give you a smile, or compliment your outfit which would bring up your mood. If we didn't have kind people like that we wouldn't have that uplifting thought from someone you don't know. If we didn't have doctors and nurses we wouldn't be healthy and would probably end up being sick all the time. If we didn't have friends we wouldn't have people we relate to, and have fun with. Friends can be a really positive impact on your growth and becoming of who you are now, and in the future. Without friends you might not have people you can hang out with and be yourself with.
