

What are some qualities you have that you are thankful for?

Some qualities in myself that I am thankful for are: bravery, my confidence, my outgoing personality, how I comfort people, my humor, my caring for others, and my smartness. I value and am grateful for all of these qualities that I have because they make me the person I am today.

I am grateful that I am a brave person because some people can't stand up for what they believe in. I am grateful that I am a confident person because if I wasn't confident, I wouldn't be a leader. I am grateful that I have an outgoing personality because I am funny, comforting, and a very adventurous person. I am grateful that I am a person who comforts others because if someone is sad I like to try to make them happy or to help them fix their problem. I am grateful that I have good humor because during awkward or sad situations I try to change the mood by making a joke.

I am grateful that I care for others because if I didn't care for others I would be a very selfish person. I am grateful that I am a smart person because if I wasn't smart I wouldn't know right from wrong and I would be taken advantage of. If I didn't have any of these qualities I wouldn't be the person my parents would want me to be. With these qualities I am more like Jesus.
