

Qualities I Have That I am Thankful For

Thanksgiving is a time to give thanks and appreciate what, and who, we have in our lives, but sometimes we forget to appreciate ourselves. We are all equally important and everyone should know that, so I want to share all my favorite qualities about me and how I am thankful for them.

One main quality I have for which I am thankful is that I always understand how someone feels even if I don't know what they are going through. People I know go to me for comfort because they know I won't judge them. It makes me feel good knowing that people trust me and realize I am there for them. Another quality I have is that I am independent. I do forget things, but I try not to rely on others and I love that about me. I rarely ask for help, and I like doing things myself. Like I said there are a lot of qualities about me that I love but another top quality I am thankful for is that if I believe in something I will always stand up for what is right. If I think something is wrong, I am not afraid to say it and if I really love something, I am proud to admit it.

I have several qualities but those three are the ones of which I am most proud. Everyone should learn to appreciate themselves and learn to be thankful for the qualities that make them who they are.