

Hannah Murphy

Saint Francis de Sales Catholic Academy Grade 7

The Qualities of Life: Thanksgiving

Qualities are very important characteristics in a person. There are many important qualities for a thankful person. For example, a thankful person is compassionate and faithful. I am thankful for many qualities. These are great characteristics in a person who is thankful.

Another example of a great quality is being thoughtful. People who are thoughtful think of others and consider others' feelings. They also care about others' needs. This is a great quality because showing consideration is very kind. You can be a thoughtful person by helping someone feel better in a bad situation by giving them a gift. These are a few things about this quality and how you can become thoughtful to others.

A significant quality in a thankful person is being helpful. You can be helpful by helping someone in a troublesome situation. A helpful person is also generous and considerate about other people. People that are helpful do kind acts too. Being helpful can also have a big impact on a person. This is an important quality in a thankful person.

Another quality of a thankful person is responsibility. People who are responsible decide to make good decisions and complete a task to the best of their ability. They also take accountability of their actions. Another reason that this is a great quality in a thankful person is because they care about others. These are a few things about why being helpful is an important quality in order to be thankful.

Kindness is a great characteristic in a thankful person. It is a great characteristic because an act of kindness can make someone's day better. For example, being kind can make someone feel better if they are in a bad situation. In order to be kind, you have to be generous, friendly, loving and many more traits. An example of an act of kindness is donating clothes to people that are in need. This is another quality in a thankful person.

All of these traits are very significant in a thankful person. These qualities are significant because they can all bring a positive impact to a person. Having these character traits can inspire more people to follow you. Another thing is, they can have a big impact on the world too. These are some ways that these qualities are great and significant in a thankful person and why I'm thankful to have them.