

What Qualities Do You Have That You Are Thankful For?

By Jonathan Wozniak

I am thankful for being funny, smart, and helpful. These qualities are what make me who I am. My friends would say I am helpful because when they are stuck on their homework, I help them figure it out. I am always there for them with anything. Being funny is fun because when people laugh it makes me happy. I am not happy a lot so that helps me. Finally, I am smart because I learn stuff very quickly. Being smart is a good thing because you would not get bad grades. These are the three qualities that make me who I am.
