

What Qualities Do You Have That You Are Thankful For?

By Logan Wozniak

I am thankful for being loyal, responsible, and active. These qualities are what make me who I am. My friends say I am loyal because I am always there for them, and I always will be. Being responsible is tough because you must take part in your own jobs and chores without your parents' help. Finally, I am an active person. I play outside with my friends. Also, I run outside after school. In conclusion, I am thankful for being loyal, responsible, and an active person.
