

What Qualities Do You Have That You Are Thankful For?

By Mya Lindsay

I am thankful for being faithful, graceful, and peaceful. Every time I walk on the sidewalk, I see everyone being assertive and not so kind. I am graceful and kind to others walking on the sidewalk. If you are graceful to others, it could affect people in a positive way by making them happy and proud. I am faithful. If a conversation takes too long, I will not be rude and interrupt. I will sit and listen. Being a faithful person can make other people happy, too. I am also peaceful. If I get bullied, I will not tolerate them and allow them to cause a big problem. I will just be peaceful and tell a teacher. If someone is upset, I will change the subject so they won't worry about that situation. When someone is miserable and they want to fight with someone, I will calm them down. In conclusion, I am thankful for these three qualities that I have.
