

There are many things that I am thankful for in my life. Beside material things I'm also thankful for the gifts with which I was blessed. Thanksgiving is a day to appreciate my talents and qualities even more than material items.

Some things I am thankful for are my health and intelligence. Although I struggle at times, I'm always able to understand in the end. I'm also thankful for my ability to cheer my friends up when they are upset and comfort them when they are sad.

I'm thankful for my talents as well as my loyalty to my friends and family. I will continue to cherish my qualities and gifts and use them for the greater good.
