

What Qualities Do You Have That You Are Thankful For?

By Reem Albaneh

I am thankful for being responsible, loyal, and calm. These qualities are what make me who I am. My friends say I am responsible because I am always doing the right thing, and listening, and doing everything I am told. Being loyal is a good thing because everyone trusts me. I am trustworthy. People tell me things, like when they need help. I can help them and that makes me reliable. I am calm because I am smart. I am good with work because I am always listening. I am good with answering questions and going up when I am called upon. In conclusion, I am thankful for being responsible, loyal, and calm.
