

Thankful for My Qualities

It's the time of year we give thanks! Everyone has stuff and qualities that they are thankful for. Now is the time to show, and say what you are thankful for.

One quality I'm thankful for is having my family care for me and love me. I'm thankful for my parents and older sister. They pay for my clothes, food, and drive me anywhere and everywhere that I need to go . I'm also very thankful to have my friends around me all the time. They always listen to what I have to say, always have my back, and always give me advice. I am also very thankful for my house and my room. I am thankful that I have a roof over my head, air conditioning in the summer and heat in the winter. I'm thankful for my bed. Without my own bed and my own living space and privacy in my room, everything would be very different for me and a little bit harder if I had to share my own space with another one of my siblings. I am thankful that I get driven to and from school everyday in the cold and in the heat. Lastly, I am thankful that my parents are willing to let me do what I want in life and will always let me live my dream no matter what.

As you can see, I have a lot of qualities in my life to be thankful for. My family loving and caring for me, my friends, is the time of the year!my home, and overall my life in general. I hope and wish everyone can say the same about themselves !
