

Thankful

Life itself is a gift

We need to be thankful for still being alive

We all talk about being thankful for something but never yourself

We make our life and decisions

Making us be happy or not

But life itself is it gift that no one can buy