What qualities do you have that you are thankful for?

The qualities I possess that I am most thankful for include being athletic, a good friend, and funny. I love to play sports, so I am very thankful that I am athletic. I perform well in most sports I play because I stay focused and work hard at getting better. Being athletic helps me improve skills like responsibility, goal setting, and time management.

I am also thankful that I am a good friend. Everyone needs a good friend in their life. Friends help you through tough times and celebrate the good times. I am a friend who is honest and can always be trusted. I think my friends know they can count on me. They know I will always be there for them.

The last quality I have that I am thankful for is being funny. Having a good sense of humor is important. It makes people laugh and feel better during tough times. When I make people laugh, I can tell I make them happy. It makes me feel good to see other people laugh because of my sense of humor. Having a good sense of humor brings my family together and that is why I am thankful for this quality.
