What qualities do you have that you are thankful for?

The qualities that I'm most thankful for are that I am caring, giving and helpful to others. I am thankful for these qualities because with these qualities I am able to help to become a better person. By being a caring person I try to help any of my family members and friends when they need someone to be there for them. I am also a giving person, I donate food to the church for those who don't have anything to eat. I also try to donate money to people in need. This will help people in need buy things that they do not have like clothes or food. I also am a very helpful person. I always help my family with anything around the house like doing all my chores. I also try to help my elderly neighbors with racking their leaves or helping them with their pets. I think this shows why I'm so thankful for these qualities.
